FORM 990, PART III - ORGANIZATION'S PRIMARY EXEMPT PURPOSE

The purpose of the CRLP is to promote public awareness of laws and policies affecting human reproduction in the United States of America and throughout the world and to further the exercise of free choice in matters relating to reproductive health and human reproduction.

Our domestic and international programs engage in litigation, policy analysis, legal research, and public education seeking to achieve women's equality in society and ensure that all women have access to appropriate and freely chosen reproductive health services. We believe that reproductive rights -- including the right of all women to decide whether and when to have children, to use contraception, and to safeguard their own health -- are human rights. We therefore work to defend, advance, and enforce these rights. In 1998, our activities included:

- Bringing lawsuits in 26 U.S. states to protect women's right to choose abortion
- Working for improved access to contraceptive options, including through expanded contraceptive coverage in employee health benefits programs
- Providing technical and legal support for reproductive health and rights advocates on the local, state, and national levels, as well as in different regions of the world
- Investigating and reporting on the laws, policies, and customs governing women's reproductive lives in countries around the globe
- Promoting reproductive rights in the United Nations and throughout the global community
- Educating the public on legal and policy issues relating to reproductive rights
- Producing publications, including our monthly newsletter (the Reproductive Freedom News); the Women of the World series on laws and policies in countries around the world; fact sheets; and in-depth analyses on a broad range of issues ranging from female genital mutilation/female circumcision to bans on "partial birth abortions" to governmental commitments to improve reproductive health services
